Royal Putty Nova & Featherlite Nova

We have further developed our popular hand therapy putty after suggestions from users and our customers.

The two new Nova-putties have a drier feeling and are less oily compared to our previous qualities and the dynamic resistance has also been enhanced.

FURTHER DEVELOPED FORMULA

The composition of the putty is silicone elastomers with different densities. In our new qualities we have increased the dynamic resistance by cross-linking the elastomers. When training with a higher intensity the putty responds with a higher resistance. At low intensity the putty responds with a lower resistance. This makes it possible to use the same resistance level longer during the rehabilitation phase.

The softer resistance levels have been modified to work better for neurological and rheumatic patients.

We are also introducing a middle package of 450 g/335 cc as a complement to our existing packages.

Royal Putty Nova

Available in six resistance levels. The lower resistance levels, XX-Soft and X-Soft have been modified to work better for neurological and rheumatic patients. Even with a low resistance it does not smudge.

All the resistance levels can be blended for an individual resistance.

Featherlite Nova

The new enhanced Featherlite Nova is much lighter than the previous quality. The dynamic resistance has been improved as well as the elasticity to make it more functional for hand rehabilitation.

Featherlite Nova is not sold in grams but in volume cc due to the low weight.
